

Greenhill Newsletter

This week throughout the school every class in school has been taking part in British Science Week. We started with a Wow assembly on Friday and each class has completed a different challenge. There are lots of great simple Science ideas for you to do at home on the website.

Greenhill News

Our theme this week has been friendship. The children learnt about kindness, cooperation, and conflict resolution. The children have enjoyed stories about friendship and how friends used British values to resolve conflicts. We believe that teaching the importance of friendship helps nurture emotional well-being and supports the development of healthy relationships. We are excited to continue promoting kindness and respect within our Academy.
